

Not everything is cancelled because of COVID-19.

Mission Central, formerly Missions Fest Vancouver, have a few things you can add to your calendar.

We are very excited to launch the Mission Central Conference with three streams, GROW, CREATE and SERVE. All the streams will be online this year.

SERVE, January 29-31, is taking over for Missions Fest Vancouver and features over 100 exhibitors, lots of relevant seminars taught by missional experts and General Sessions featuring Joshua Bogunjoko, Lisa Koons and Alan Hirsch. This conference is being held on a dynamic virtual conference platform that simulates a real conference experience. Registration is free but donations are welcome.

GROW, on February 19-20, is for Christians who want to grow as missional disciples. There are many challenges to being a disciple in our culture. We'll introduce you to practices of missional disciples and a community of people who can help you thrive.

CREATE, on February 26-27, is a conference for Christian creatives and people who love the arts. This year the conference is being anchored by the Moving Picture Festival, but in future years we anticipate featuring visual and performing arts as well.

We'd invite you to sign up today. Registration information can be found at <https://conference.missioncentral.ca/>
